Loving, Serving, and Accepting All People with God's Life-Changing Power

PONDERINGS...

...Let Me Tell You About My Church...

Pastor Dave

When we think about all that churches that are located in our area, it could give us pause to wonder: What difference does it make that we are here? During my recent time away, I found myself talking quite a bit about the UCC and BUCC. It's not like I bring up the subject; it's just that when people ask what kind of work I do, there are usually some follow-up questions. I now recognize that most of these questions derive from one essential question: "What kind of Church embraces an openly gay Pastor?" And before you know it, I'm presenting a condensed course on Theology and Church History:

"The United Church of Christ and its predecessor bodies, have a rich tradition of progressive thinking, social action, and boldly proclaiming the Good News of God's deep and abiding love for all people. And Brecksville United Church of Christ has been - and continues to be - an integral part of this remarkable tradition...."

Actually, I express myself in far less formal language. I also try to keep my responses brief, so as not to bore people, or make them regret having asked. However, many people have several follow-up questions that keep the conversation going.

It's then that I am happily reminded of how fortunate I am to be a part of this remarkable community of faith, day-in and day-out:

To be inspired by the uplifting music of our choirs, energized by the lively enthusiasm of our children, and fed together through the gifts of Word and Sacrament.

To offer and receive the prayers and support needed for Life's difficult and painful times.

To have the opportunity to experience how God continues to bless us, speak to us, and speak through us.

And to be able to carry forward the important ministry of Christ's extravagant welcome to all.

As a congregation, we at Brecksville United Church of Christ take our Faith seriously, yet try not to take ourselves too seriously! We strive to celebrate our diversity of thoughts, expressions, and experiences with a spirit of openness and kindness. We try to create a worship experience that is warm and welcoming, as well as being relevant and uplifting. And we freely share both our faith and our doubts, trusting that our God is big enough and loving enough to accept each of us wherever we are on our life's journey.

Basically, the bottom line is this: Our presence in this community can - and does - make a tremendously positive difference! And here's another important thing: Your presence, and prayers, and participation at Brecksville United Church of Christ are an extremely significant part in helping make that difference! Because, together, we are a Church that has claimed a crucial and wonderful mission: To Love, Serve, and Accept All People with God's Life-Changing Power!

Personally, I can't imagine a better mission to have, or a better place in which to carry it forward!

With you in Christ's Service,
Pastor Dave

If you would like to have a pastoral visit in your home, or simply need to talk, please call Pastor Dave at the church office (440-526-4364) or at home (440-546-1193). He will be glad to meet with you.

FROM THE MINISTRIES OF BUCC

NEWS FROM OCWM

Recently, Brookside Hunger Center hosted an open house tour of the new facilities, which are located a few doors south of the previous location on Pearl Road. The tour was interesting, and the facilities are spacious. About 850 families are served by this center, and Heidi Boness, the manager, indicated that the need has grown larger following the hard financial times of 2008 and 2009. That is one reason why the food donations from BUCC members and friends are very important. Also, the items from the mitten tree were delivered (second time the tree has been "trimmed").

The date of the next Family Promise will be upon us soon. Watch for the sign-up board in the narthex for further information.

SARA will be sponsoring a trip to the Ukraine in late May this year. It will be a cultural, educational, and a spiritual trip. Those interested in participating should contact Bob Chandler for more information.

Please see that the fire door(s) you opened are closed when you leave the building.

Fire doors are located:

Notes and Asides

A LETTER OF THANKS....

Thank you so much for the beautiful Poinsettia presented to us by Jan Renovetz. It is still beautiful and reminds us daily of your loving concern for us.

Our gratitude and Love are extended to all of you for your kind and generous expressions of caring for us, especially during Bill's recent illness and recovery. Your cards, phone calls, visit to Marymount Hospital and The Oaks. Bill treasured the visits, including many by Pastor Dave, and many by you dear friends – your willingness to drive us where we need to go – Marge Culver, Joy Garapic, Caroline & Bob Chandler have been so generous. The outpouring of offers to help in any way makes us feel valued and loved by this community. How blessed we are!

Another blessing occurred a few months ago when the Capella Quintet, Kate Klonowski, Diane Lightbody, Matt Wolbert, David Debick, and Jon Thompson sang the 23rd Psalm. It was a truly transcendent performance; perfect intonation, balance, phrasing, blend, attack and release – in short, a performance which was angelic, heavenly. We are hoping for a repeat performance or two or three, please!

Happy New Year to all of you. May God bless you with peace and happiness in 2014.

Bill & Ann Toneff

WE ARE SAD TO ANNOUNCE that Pastor Jim Smith, who served as BUCC Interim Minister in 2004, passed away on April 7th last year, at the age of 85. Rev. Smith continued to serve the UCC in Virginia as a part-time interim and pulpit-supply pastor, until he was slowed by a broken hip in late 2012. His widow, Cornelia, of Narrows, Virginia, wrote to Ann and Bill Toneff: "Brecksville was one of the first places where Jim served as an interim pastor....Thank you for helping to make his time in Brecksville an important era in his life." We at BUCC are truly blessed, and grateful, that Jim Smith's kind and caring ministry among us helped carry us through some challenging times.

ENCORE

Now That's Remarkable!
(Text - John 1:43-51)

Pastor Dave Shackle
January 19, 2014

When we read about Biblical figures, or hear about contemporary people, who claim to have received a direct call from God, we may find ourselves feeling a bit doubtful or disheartened. Don't get me wrong. I think it's fantastic that Isaiah felt that the Holy One had called him - while still in his mother's womb. I also think it's wonderful that Jesus goes to Galilee, finds Philip and says to him, "Follow me!" - and that Philip then sets-up his friend Nathanael with a face-to-face meeting with the Messiah. The problem is, those kind of exceptional encounters just don't seem to happen very often; or at least they don't happen to many people I know. Perhaps you yourself have thought, "If God would just give me a sign! Nothing spectacular, just something to let me know that God really is there, and that I'm on the right track."

I think most of us, at one time or another, desire some kind of personal contact with our Holy Source of Life - a vision, a dream, some form of communication that lets us know that we are connected to the Holy One. So this morning, I'd like us to think about what that might actually feel like - or be like - if you or I were literally called by God. How might we recognize that call? How would we know that it was really God speaking to us, and not just our imagination? How could we tell if it was a Divinely inspired dream, or the result of a late-night burrito-binge? One thing we do know, is that people like Isaiah and Nathanael initially had doubts of their own, as did many of the Biblical figures who experienced a close encounter of the Divine Kind. So perhaps their stories can help us grapple with our own questions concerning this notion of hearing, and responding to the call of God today.

Personally, I believe that each of us has received some sense of a Divine Calling in our lives - otherwise, we probably wouldn't be in this particular place, at this particular moment. I also believe that, in one way or another, the Holy One extends a call to every person; though certainly not everyone hears or responds to that call. In this morning's readings, there are three specific conditions that stand-out, which I think can be helpful in allowing you and me to hear and respond to God's call in our lives. They are: expectation, preparation, and acceptance.

I begin with expectation, because what we expect can definitely effect what you and I will experience. I find it amazing, that when I'm having a particularly bad day, I run into so many other cranky and negative people. And in those times when I'm anticipating problems to arise, lo and behold, they usually do! Yet on my good days, almost everyone I meet seems reasonable and up-beat. And when I begin my day with an optimistic outlook and a positive purpose , that day seems to go quite smoothly. Who knows, maybe, it has something to do with my own frame of mind, and my own expectations.

In that regard, it's not surprising that Isaiah receives a call to proclaim God's message to Israel, and to the ends of the earth. Throughout his life, Isaiah senses that he has been created specifically to serve God. And not only does Isaiah expect that to happen, he also spends much of his life preparing for that day to come. Likewise for you and me, preparation is an important part in being sensitive to that Divine Calling in our lives. The more we prepare ourselves for Divine Possibilities, the better we will be able to recognize and embrace them when they arise before us.

Martin Luther King Jr. didn't just wake up one morning and say, "I think I'm going to lead a civil rights movement." The truth is, his entire life had been a steady preparation for that pivotal moment. By 1954, at age 25, King had graduated from college and seminary, and was called to be the pastor of the Dexter Avenue Baptist Church in Montgomery, Alabama. As the new Pastor in town, he was elected to (or stuck with) the position of President of the newly formed Montgomery Improvement Association. Then, on December 5th, 1955, an event took place in Montgomery, which would launch a dream for Martin Luther King and for millions of others. Rosa Parks, a seamstress returning home from a long day of work, was arrested for refusing to give up her bus seat to a white man. And with her arrest, began a boycott of the Montgomery Bus Company, which would last more than a year.

Martin Luther King, as leader of that civic Improvement Association, became the leader of that boycott; and from that point forward, became a Messenger of the Dream: The Dream that freedom, equality, and justice might be realized by every person, regardless of race, color, or creed. King was able to envision and articulate that Dream as well as, or better, than anyone else. Much like the prophet Isaiah, King's entire life had helped him prepare for that one day when - through a unique convergence of circumstances - God would call him to step forward and say, "Yes, God, I will follow the path that is opening-up before me!"

Now, all this is not to say that you or I won't be able to hear God calling us if we're not expecting it, or preparing for it; however, we certainly improve our chances of hearing that call, by regularly practicing our faith and by seeking to increase our awareness of the Holy Presence which surrounds us each day. The critical thing, is that you and I don't miss - or ignore - that call because it comes to us in ways which seem too common or mundane to truly be Divine.

Nathanael was anticipating and preparing for an encounter with the Holy. As he sat under that fig tree, he was probably studying the Holy Scriptures; because, according to Jewish tradition, that was a proper place to sit and contemplate those sacred texts. Beneath that fig tree, Nathanael searched and prepared, with hope and expectation, for a Divine Revelation.

However, he almost missed it, because God's message came to him in a very ordinary way: not in a booming voice from heaven, or lightening flashing across the sky, but by the personal witness of his friend, Philip.

Philip says to Nathanael, "We have found the One about whom Moses and the prophets wrote. It is Jesus of Nazareth!" But Nathanael has trouble accepting that. How could God's Anointed One come from Nazareth, that little town down the road? ("Can anything good come out of... Richfield?") Also, how does Philip know that this Jesus truly is God's Messiah? It all seems too casual, too ordinary for Nathanael to accept. Yet Philip doesn't argue with him; he simply invites him to check it out for himself. "Come and See! Come and meet this Jesus, and discover the truth for yourself!" So Nathanael accepts Philip's invitation, and Nathanael encounters the Divine, through a truly natural way - the gracious invitation of a good friend.

Oftentimes, God speaks to you and me through seemingly simple and ordinary ways: the aesthetic beauty of a sunset, or a snowfall; the inspiring message of a story, or a song; the kind words or actions of a friend, or a stranger. Yet perhaps most amazing of all, are those times when God chooses to speak through you and me: through our reaching out with compassion to those around us; through our prayers and hugs for those who are hurting; through our warm welcome to all those who come among us; and through our simply inviting our friends and neighbors to join us on this remarkable journey of faith.

Just as Philip says to Nathanael, you and I can also say to others, "Come and see! Come and meet this Living, Loving Christ - who continues to live and love in and through this seemingly ordinary, yet extraordinary Family of Faith!" For you see, not only is God still speaking to us today, God also continues to speak through us! And that, my friends, is a remarkable thing!

Did you know that the 2002 addition of the south entry and accessible elevator required many years of planning and activity? Appointed by Lenore Harris, then Moderator, one of the first jobs of the Land-Use Task Force was the 1989 acquisition of the Elsworth property on Arlington St. This assured our accessibility of adequate parking area. With the retention of Myers Architects, several alternate plans for remodeling and/or adding to our building and siting an elevator were studied and evaluated. However, it required the acquisition of the Dixon property in 1994 to make the project viable with enough land available both for the addition and for the automobile access from both Arlington Street and Route 82. Finalizing plans, securing permits, successful fund raising, and the negotiating of construction contracts lead to the breaking of ground of our “Opening Doors” project in 2002.
