PASTOR'S PONDERINGS...

...Our Continuing Mission...

... To explore strange new worlds...to seek out new life and new civilizations...to boldly go where no one has gone before.... Oops, sorry! While pondering our Church's Mission Statement, and I apparently channeled the Mission Statement of the Starship Enterprise. Actually, parts of that statement aren't that far from what we strive to do here at BUCC. We explore new ways to welcome the stranger, and open ourselves to different world-views. We seek out the New Life that Jesus Christ proclaims and embodies. And we boldly try to take our faith and our living to a higher level - one that is beyond where we've gone before.

From time to time, it's important to think about our mission in this world, and to be able to clearly articulate it. As Jesus approaches Jerusalem for the last time, he sums-up his life's mission by declaring that he came "Not to be served, but to serve; and to give his life as a ransom for many." (Matthew 20:28) I believe that his concise understanding of that mission was extremely helpful in allowing him to faithfully follow through and fulfill it. As you and I approach Good Friday and Easter, it's a good time to consider our mission, as individuals and as a Family of Faith.

Our Brecksville United Church of Christ Mission Statement is both brief and bold: To Love, to Serve, and to Accept All People with God's Life-Changing Power. For me, this mission is also personal, as I try to find ways to do that in my day-to-day living. Being part of a caring community like BUCC certainly helps. And being part of a faith community definitely provides additional inspiration and energy. The proclamation of Easter is much more than simply announcing that Jesus was raised from death to life. It is also recognition of how the Divine Power of Love and Life continues to overcome the forces of fear, hatred, and death. It's about honoring Christ's call that we recognize and treat all people as our brothers and sisters, and that we love our neighbor as we love ourselves. And Easter is God's definitive declaration that there is no pain or problem in Life that can ever separate us from the reality of Divine Compassion and Grace.

On the first Easter morning, in spite of the confusion, fear, and doubt which surrounded them, those first witnesses hurried from the tomb to share the Good News with their friends, their enemies, and eventually, the entire world: CHRIST IS RISEN! CHRIST IS RISEN INDEED! This is the Good News that inspires our Mission. This is the Good News that brings us new life.

Peace and Joy,
Pastor Dave

FROM THE MINISTRIES OF BUCC NEWS FROM OCWM

The last Family Promise night was March 4th. About 17 people were sheltered and fed by BUCC members and friends. Christ the Redeemer Lutheran Church graciously provided the site. The evening meal was well appreciated, especially the dessert. Thanks go to all who participated. The date for the next Family Promise night has yet to be determined.

The next hunger meal will be on Sunday, May 18th (note change of date). We are partnering with Episcopal Church Of The Advent, as we have done in the past (they are very easy to work with). The site will be the Pearl Road United Methodist Church. The menu is to be decided. BUCC is providing the salad and dressing, bread and spread, and the dessert (the other church will provide the entree). The sign-up board will be in the narthex at BUCC at a later date.

The aluminum can barrel in the lower commons continues to fill up as if by magic. Last month, another 37 pounds of cans and other metals were redeemed, returning $20.00 to the BUCC SARA account. To date, 3461 pounds (whew!) have been redeemed, yielding just over $2450.00 (double whew!). Way to go, BUCC members.

FACILITIES

As many of you may know, the church owns the two family home located at the entrance off of Arlington Street. We've been fortunate to have long term tenants, through which the church has consistently received additional monthly Revenue.

A recent inspection by the Facilities Committee had uncovered some potential concerns that needed immediate attention. The following list details some of the improvements that have been made over the last 30 days:

1. Electrical upgrades - New panels, additional circuits, GFI outlets where required, external lights at both entrances
2. Repair of damaged vinyl siding
3. Installed new Co detectors, and new 10-year, lithium-powered smoke detectors
4. Corrected ventilation issues
5. Added structural supports in the basement
6. Added insulation, caulking and weather proofing

The city of Brecksville had been contacted after repairs were made, approved all the corrections and has issued a new certificate of occupancy.

Within the next few months, you will see some additional improvements to the exterior of the residence. Some of these will include cleaning and repairing all gutters and downspouts, structural repairs to the front porch, and general cleaning of the grounds. Renewed landscaping is being planned, to provide continuity with the rest of the church's property.

Thank you for your continued support,
Doug Fawcett/Facilities Committee

TASK FORCE MEMBERS REQUESTED!

Most of you are aware that BUCC owns the house at the south side of our property, at the Arlington Rd. parking lot entrance.

Our dedicated Facilities Ministry is always trying to anticipate and budget for future expenses to both the church building and the rental house. Currently, the Ministry is focused on gathering information for a long-range feasibility plan for that property. They would like to know what ideas members might have for the use of the property in the long-range event that the house is no longer viable. What would you like to see there? Anything? Nothing? Green space? Gardens? Parking? And perhaps even more importantly, what will the city of Brecksville sanction for that lot? If these questions intrigue you, please contact Betsey Wilson. This should be a relatively simple, short-term commitment for interested members, and you will have the full aide and support of the Facilities Ministry. Thanks in advance!

Did you know that our church organ is the result of many years of the giving of time and materials by the Ellenberger family? Ernest Ellenberger was a successful business man and longtime member of our church with a strong interest in organ, choral and classical music. He helped establish an organ building business with his son, Bill. They have gradually added new components and Bill still helps keep the organ in repair and operation. The core of our organ was recovered, mostly undamaged, from the ruins of the church after the 1965 fire. It has been extensively upgraded and expanded since then

Did you know that BUCC served community fish fries for fund raising in the mid 1900's? A caterer would provide the fish and fry them on the spot with his special equipment, while our women would provide the other components of the meal and the men would serve and clean up.

Do you have any interesting stories about the History of BUCC? We would love to include them in the monthly Pillar from time to time. Please email to the office at buccoh@sbcglobal.net

ENCORE

Do Talk to Strangers!
(Text - John 4:5-30, 39-42)

Pastor Dave Shackle
March 23, 2014

Even though the Gospel accounts routinely tell of Jesus teaching and reaching out to multitudes of people, they also tell stories of him interacting with specific individuals. A fascinating example of this is found in today's New Testament reading, where Jesus encounters a Samaritan woman at Jacob's well. This morning, I'd like us to look this encounter, focusing on three specific things that Jesus does to help bring about a remarkable change in that woman's life. My hope is that you and I will also find these three things helpful and inspiring for our own lives, and for the way in which you and I engage with others.

It's noon when Jesus arrives at Jacob's well. By that time of day, the respectable people from town have already gotten their water during the cooler morning hours. So this is the ideal time for the "socially unacceptable" to take their turn. If you live in a hot climate, and want to avoid other people, high noon would be the perfect time to get your water, and avoid judgmental scrutiny. Yet on this particular day, this woman comes to the well only to find another person already sitting there. Fortunately, he's a stranger - some traveler she doesn't know, and who hopefully doesn't know about her; so maybe she can simply get her water in peace. But apparently this man's mother wasn't infallible - she didn't teach him not talk to strangers! And he initiates a conversation, by asking her for a drink of water. It's a reasonable request, since he has no water container; and it's a request that common courtesy cannot refuse. So it looks like the woman is stuck.

From the man's accent and appearance, she realizes that he's Jewish, perhaps even a rabbi; which probably makes her even more nervous to be there. But there she is, and there he is, so why not just move it along. After all, he should be as uncomfortable as she - eager to get his water, and get away from this unsavory, Samaritan. Yet strangely enough, it seems that he is quite at ease with her, and in no hurry to leave.

The first thing we should note is that Jesus gives this woman his attention; and that this focused attention catches her by surprise. She asks him, "How is it that you, a Jew, ask a drink of me, a woman of Samaria?" (For the Jews have no dealings with Samaritans, as the Gospel writer editorially explains.) Yet, apparently, Jesus isn't at all put-off by the fact that she's a Samaritan, or that she has come to the well by herself at midday. Instead, he focuses his attention on the person in front of him - a child of God, who he has the privilege of meeting. He then engages her in a deep conversation about water, and living water; the history of Jacob's well; and the deep inner thirsting that so many people experience.

Realizing that this man is actually willing to engage with her, the woman then asks him for a drink - from that "fountain of living water". However, he invites her to open-up even further, saying, "Go call your husband and come back." The woman admits, "I have no husband," which Jesus apparently already knows. Perhaps her reputation has preceded her. Jesus says, "You have had five husbands, and the one whom you have now is not your husband!"

Well that's certainly awkward! So the woman abruptly changes the subject with an insight of her own, that sounds both formal, and a bit funny: "Sir, I see that you are a prophet!" And then she plunges into this theological discourse about the proper place and the correct way to worship God - a rather obvious ploy to shift the conversation. Yet Jesus is right there with her! He continues to give her his complete attention; and by doing this, demonstrates a genuine acceptance of who she is and where she is in her life. No judgment; no words of condemnation; no pious withdrawing from this flawed, yet fascinating child of God.

This is the second notable thing that Jesus does in this encounter: He accepts this woman as she is. He respectfully listens to her understanding of faith, and her sincere questions concerning the true nature of worship. Acceptance may be one of the most important things that you and I can offer to other people; and it's also one of the more difficult things to give. This is especially true when people are doing things with which we disagree, or things that we know aren't good for them. Our natural response is to want to counsel, or criticize, or judge. Unfortunately, we Christians have a pretty good (or pretty bad) reputation for doing this! Yet Jesus Christ teaches that we should not judge others; and more significantly, Jesus himself does not judge. He is truthful with this woman; yet he doesn't even begin to criticize her, or to shame her. Instead, he affirms her as a genuine child of God - one who is worthy to receive that Living Water!

Imagine how radically different this encounter with Jesus must have been for that Samaritan woman. She is so used to being put-down and shunned by her own community, that she probably can only see herself through their eyes. But then, she meets this truly Holy and Gracious individual, who pays attention to her, and who accepts her right where she is! And rather than adding to her problems and negative self-perceptions, he lifts-up the marvelous possibilities that he sees within her.

By giving her his complete attention and acceptance, Jesus shares with her a third Life-changing gift: the gift of appreciation - the gift of Love. By seeing her as a completely loved child of God, Jesus helps her to see herself in that exact same light - as one no longer trapped or defined by her heritage or past history - but as a valued and appreciated member of God's Inclusive Family. And so a remarkable transformation begins, as this woman realizes that she truly is a child of God - one who can worship God "in spirit and in truth" - and one who can't wait to tell others about this extraordinary, Life-changing encounter.

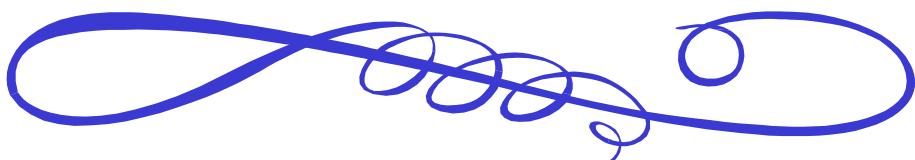

So she leaves her water jar and hurries back to the city, to boldly and joyfully invite others to "come and see this person who told me everything I have ever done." ("Really, everything? Well, that's certainly worth going to see!") So they follower her out of the city, and come to meet Jesus. "And many Samaritans from that city believed in Jesus because of this woman's testimony." How about that! Because of her amazing encounter with Jesus Christ, this woman's life is completely changed: from being the city's disreputable outcast, to becoming an important part of that community - a community which itself is transformed, as those people also meet Jesus and welcome him to stay with them.

So...what does all this have to do with our community today? It reminds us that within this community of faith, you and I have the awesome opportunity to help change people's lives - to "open up the faucet" (so to speak) and allow that fountain of Living Water to spring forth with new life and new possibilities. The way we do this, is by following the example of Jesus Christ:

By paying attention to the people we encounter. By really seeing them for who they are, and listening to what they have to say.

By affirming them where they are - not judging their past, but welcoming their presence, and raising-up their potential.

Some Reflections on Easter

Easter is the Divine Demonstration that Life, at its core, is spiritual and timeless. Easter is not a time for groping through dusty, musty tomes or tombs to disprove spontaneous generation or even to prove eternal life. It is a day to fan the ashes of dead hope, a day to banish doubts and seek the light of the rising sun. It is a time to rejoice in an event which transports us out of our old, dead patterns and into an exciting and inviting future.

The great gift of Easter is hope - hope which makes us have confidence in God, in God's ultimate triumph, and in a Divine goodness and love which nothing can ever overcome.

Easter says you can put truth in a grave, but it won't stay there.

The Resurrection gives our live meaning and direction, and the opportunity to start over no matter what our circumstances.

Earth's saddest day and gladdest day were just three days apart!
